

deriving policies.

Dr. Pragya Rai, Asst. Prof. Political Science,
Maharaja College

BA-2, Paper-4, Unit-3

Idealist Approach to International Relations

Idealism stands for improving the course of international relations by eliminating war, hunger, inequality, tyranny, force, suppression and violence from international relations. Idealism accepts the possibility of creating a world free from these evils by depending upon reason, science and education. The Idealist approach advocates morality as the means for securing the desired objective of making the world an ideal world.

MAY
2009

F	S	S	M	T	W	T	F	S	S	M	T	W	T	F	S	S	M	T	W	T	F	S	S
1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	13	14	15	16	17	18	19	20	21	22	23	24	25	26	27	28	29	30	31

08 Main features of Idealism -

091- Human nature is essentially good and capable of good deeds in international relations.

10 2- Human welfare and advancement of civilization are the concern of all.

11 3- Bad human behaviour is the product of bad environment and bad institutions.

12 4- By reforming the environment bad human behaviours can be eliminated.

13 5- War represents the worst feature of relations.

14 6- International community should work for eliminating such global instruments, features and practices which lead to war.

16

17

18

19

20

→
