

Different Kinds of Political Culture

(1) Parochial Political Culture-

Where the people have no understanding of the national political system, do not possess any tendency to participate in the input processes and have no consciousness of the output processes, such a type of political culture is called parochial political culture.

(2) Subject Political Culture-

This type of political culture is found in the subject countries and monarchies. There the people are aware of the governmental system whether they like it or not. They also know the role of the government regarding law making, enforcement of laws and tax collection etc. In this type of culture people are not taught to participate in the input functions. Sometimes they are not allowed to do so.

(3) Participant political culture- In this type of political culture people are 08 quite keen to participate in the 09 political system and influence its working. They are always 10 busy making ~~reasonable~~ reasonable demands on the political system and are involved in the making 11 of decisions. They develop a particular attitude towards the 12 political system. Political parties and pressure groups/interests 13 fall in this category and decide for themselves 14 what role they can play.
