

First principle point and first principle Focus.

A beam of light passing the point F_1 on the axis of the object side and after refraction through the optical system becomes parallel to the principal axis then the point F_1 is called second principle focus.

Plane H_1P_1 is called first principle plane and point P_1 is first principle point.