Importance of Educational psychology in education

- According to the modern concept of education, the teacher should aim at the complete development of the child. And for this, the teacher should have some definite knowledge of educational psychology. Without this knowledge he is no position to understand the child and to help it tide over the initial difficulties of social life.

IMPORTANCE...

- The modern teacher is motivated by a desire to make his\ her teaching more facile and more attractive and interesting. And to attain these ends, in addition to being a successful teacher, he should also be able to understand the psychology of his students.

In this way , the teachers can solve their teaching problems only with .....
