Justice according to Manu 7

Manu is of the opinion that the king is the supreme judge. The court of king is at the top of the judiciary. The king or his representatives jurist Brahman should preside the court. Manu says that without the ministers matters of state should never be considered by the king alone, be he an expert in all the sciences and versed in policy. A wise king must always follow the opinion of the members of the council of ministers with portfolios, of the president and subjects. He must follow the rules.